Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never said of any other preparation—NEVER HAS IT FAILED IN A SINGLE INSTANCE TO EFFECT A CURE, when properly used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and perfect safety. We speak in this matter WHAT WE DO KNOW, after years of experience, AND PLACE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain, a trial bottle will prove its value to the mother, and no one will be disappointed.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced nurses in the country, and has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but it invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it is to us AND A GREAT BLESSING to MANKIND in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause. We would say to everyone who is in need of such a medicine, TRY IT! YOU WILL FIND IMMEDIATE RELIEF. This is no idle or hasty recommendation, but one in which the proprietors have the entire confidence that YOU WILL FIND IT to be what we claim it to be, a MOST DELIGHTFUL MEDICINE, SOOTHING CORDIAL, relieving the little sufferer from pain, and producing immediate rest and comfort. GEORGE F. HILL, Prop'r.

This spacious and popular Hotel has been thoroughly renovated by the present proprietor. Several of the rooms have been refurnished, and all the appointments of the house are now first class. The Holly Water has been introduced, and the establishment is heated by steam. These improvements make it the house to suit the travelling public, and one of comfort.

The location of the FRANKLIN HOUSE is one of the most agreeable, healthy and central in the city. It is within one minute's walk of the Post Office, Custom House and Savings Bank, and convenient to all the business parts of the city. It is the stopping place of Popular Clerks of the house, who refer their friends to it. Rates of fare, $2 per day.

With these advantages the proprietor flatters himself that he will be enabled fully to satisfy the expectations of the old patrons of the house, and make it worth their while to prefer the Franklin to any other hotel in Bangor. A share of public patronage is solicited.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

SPRING GOODS.

The new spring woolens are the first importations displayed. These are soft and yielding, and though of pure wool, have scarcely more weight than the sheerest cambric. The greater number are self-colored in the small neat figures that have been so fashionable during the winter, such as furmures, basket-woven designs, raised checks and blocks, stripes with quadruple bars raised upon them, mitre-case, and damask figures with open lines like meshes woven around them. Summer cameleons, cashmeres, and other twilled stuffs are shown, but diagonals are no longer novelties, and the small figures will have the preference. Experienced merchants say that gray will be more worn than it has been since brown replaced it two years ago, and that fawn, steel, and drab shades will be popular, also that the fancy for myrtle green and navy blue will continue, especially when these colors are combined with white in tiny checks smaller than plaids, and in various Oriental combinations both of figures and colors.

DE BEGES.

De beges are no longer plain or merely twilled, but are imported in the stylish small figures, frames, stripes, and mixture-case patterns in shaded gray or brown. Small irregular squares are seen in de beges suits, and the fine Cashmere de beges with thick twill is provided in abundance in the blue steel shades that were so difficult to find last summer. These will be chosen for the first spring suits, and will be used as traveling and morning dresses all through the summer.

CHECKS AND PLAIDS.

Checked woolens will be worn again, but the best qualities will be finer, more than plaidwal checks, because these very fine checks can not be copied by domestic manufacturers. These will be chosen in myrtle green and white, ink blue with white, gold on brown, and, of course black and white. These remain in favor for misses and young girls, and will be displayed in bold designs and single widths. The regular checked stripes with solid stripes between, thus cardinal checks on blue with solid blue stripes between, or olive brown, cardinal, and white are the more. The armure stripes are also very neat, and there are stripes of two shades of brown or blue, with odd quaint shades of color in fancy raised threads, making strangely mottled grounds.

KNICKERBOCKER, ETC.

The rough Knickerbocker threads raised above surfaces of another color are shown in various the woolen stuffs. These come in stripes, bars, and plaids. The grave brown and gray of last season is relieved by fancy threads of cardinal or blue, and sometimes the Knickerbocker effect almost amounts to tufting, as it is so thickly woven in. These fancy mixtures are designed more especially for children's clothing. Dark gray mixtures are shown in a variety of fabrics. Black cashmeres are imported in large quantities, and promise to remain a standard material, there are also many solid Cashmeres.

LAWNS AND ORGANDIES.

Conspicuous among the wash goods are the pretty lawns of a generation ago, with white grounds strewn with sprigs, and borders in bright colors, and a colored border for trimming. These were restricted to fever last summer, but the supply did not equal the demand, and this year they are largely imported. The borders are in unique designs, some of them representing grape, and others lace. There are also quaint organdies, such as dark blue with rice and gold drops, or else brown grounds with dark stripes of blue, cardinal, or gold. Other organdies have diagonal lines that produce striped effects. These are pretty in blue and white, red with white, or brown or deep gray diagonals on blue ground, and white with the borders are provided. The Oriental patterns include Japanese, Turkish, Persian, and India designs, with most oddly contrasted colors, their quaint olives and dragon blues are mixed with cardinal, gold, and white in tracery that is without beginning or end.

For shirtings are cool and clean-looking white percales, with colored Japanese figures, blue lines and the very small checks already described in blue, brown, or green. There are also round dots of color as small as the fly checks, and much neater than the glaring polka dots lately worn. These will also be used for dresses in cotton cloth with solid-colored percales with the doll Alsace finish.

HOW TO MAKE PERCALE DRESSES.

Ladies who make up their summer wardrobes in February and March usually begin with the lawns, leaving the handsomest suits to the last, in order to get the latest fashions, hence novelties for the wash goods are the first to be provided by the importers, and we hasten to record them. There will be both polonaises and basques with over-skirts. Two kinds of percale are required for most suits, one of these is of solid color, the other is in stripes, sprigs, or in India designs with bordered. There are long, simply shaped princess polonaises of indigo blue percale, trimmed with gold and white, worn over a plain blue petticoat skirt, of which the merest glimpse of the two or three narrow gathered ruffles are shown, as the long polonaise almost covers it. The polonaise has for its only draping two pleats in the middle of the back below the long Marguerite garniture. On its side form, and quite far back, is a large square plain blue pocket, with two ruffles across the top, and a strap of pale blue ribbon tied across the centre and finished with long loops and ends. The striped, sleeves have similar trimming for cuffs. The plain blue collar is finished over in English points in front. The bottom is down this centre front and blue spectable, ivory, or smoked pearl, sewed on with eyes. The trimming around the bottom is a bias blue band, piped with gold-color, and finished with cotton fringe of mixed blue, gold and white. A Indian suit has a polonaise of brown percale striped with cream and white, and trimmed on the pockets, cuffs, and down the left side front with long looped bows of gardine ribbon.

Another polonaise, with clinging princesse front, and the back draped upon a long square tube, is of India red figures on navy blue ground. There is a plastron of plain blue down the front, and the border is of solid blue. The plain blue percale skirt has three scantily gathered ruffles bound with cardinal red. In the same fashion is a polonaise of wide blue and cream stripes, to which diagonal lines are added; a solid blue border edges the polonaise, and the flounces of the dark blue skirt are bound with pale blue. The cuffs are standing behind, and the deep points turned over in front have the corner rounded.

The basques and over-skirts make single shape. The basque is longer in front and back than gathering up the sides is short the neck. The overskirt is long and straight in front, and shorter behind. The striped and gingham percales are pretty for these, and are trimmed with pinchings or gathered ruffles of solid color, headed by wide white Smyrna lace or English embroidery on the bottom. Down the front and on the sides are bows made of the two materials used on the dress.—Harper's Bazar.

COUNT FLORIDA FOR HAYES AND WHEELER!

Such is the mandate of the special tribunal established by the voice of a large majority of the Democratic members of both branches of Congress. After having strained the Constitution to obtain "one more chance" to argue that Mr. Tilden ought to be given votes that belong to Hayes and Wheeler, the tribunal chosen by the Democrats themselves has pronounced their claimes entirely invalid, as we have held them to be from the first. Not only is this verdict rendered by a majority of the Commission, but it also embodies the decision of three out of five Supreme Court Justices and an equal preponderance of the Senatorial membership of the board.

The Democratic cry of "fraud" is therefore silenced by the very adjudication which they invoked, and the stamp of "fraudulent" has been indelibly placed upon the persistent Democratic attempts to clutch the Electoral votes of Florida.

The decision will be reported to Congress to-day, and under the terms of the law it can be overruled only by the concurrent vote of both Houses. If the House shall vote against the decision the Senate will vote to sustain it, and the counting of the votes shall proceed in conformity therewith." The count will then proceed until Louisiana is reached, unless the Democrats shall seek to make delay by demanding a vote on the charge of ineligibility set up against one of the Illinois Electors, which would be promptly disposed of by a non-concurrent vote.

It has been one fad that the Democrats based their strongest expectations upon Florida, and the Republicans believe that their Louisiana case is too solidly entrenched to admit any doubt of the decision. But the Democrats will make a stubborn fight at every point, and we may now expect that the bullying threats which secured the "compromise" will be revived in the hope of intimidating the Commission. Mr. Tilden's only remaining hopes are now resting on blustER and the Cronin fraud.

THE GOBBLE DESPATCH DECIPHERED.

From the Detroit Tribune.

It will be remembered that among the batch of despatches passing to and from Democratic magnates and agents upon the Oregon question was the following, which has hitherto puzzled the wisest heads to unravel:—

PORTLAND, Oregon, Dec. 1, 1876.

To the Hon. S. J. Tilden, 15 Gramercy Park, New York —

Hard scantiness cramp emerge peroration hothouse surveyor brass ace of plantation dental bothered exactness of surveyor high-set cunning doth shake galvanic survivor by accordingly respectful careless of senator in consequent coalesce.

(Signed) COMMA.

We have arrived at the translation of this message, and proof that it is correct that accounts to an absolute demonstration. The despatch, deciphered, is from Governor Grover of Oregon to Mr. Tilden, and is as follows:—

I shall decide every point in the case of post-office election in favor of the highest Democratic elector, and grant the certificate accordingly. Rule morning of 5th. Consequence. Confidential.

The cipher is arranged on the dictionary method. A small pocket English dictionary of a peculiar edition was used, and there are facts in our possession which we are not at liberty to publish, which prove beyond all doubt that this was the particular book that was used, and show why it was chosen. We have seen the dictionary, and deciphered the entire despatch by its aid.

The dictionary has two columns on a page, and the plan was to choose the word desired and then turn back two spaces, and take the corresponding word in the same column offwards, counting from the top of the page, was the one that was taken for use in the cipher despatch. Accordingly, taking the Gobble despatch and deciphering it word by word, the right word was looked for and found, every time two pages in advance of the word found in the dictionary and at the same numbered word from the top of the column.

The demonstration is perfect. It would be utterly inconceivable that the translation which we have given above, and which we have traced out word by word in this particular dictionary, could fit the political situation in Oregon as it does, if it were not the correct and absolute key. The signature alone defies translation in this or any known way, and was undoubtedly agreed upon beforehand and understood.

The same key reveals the fact that in some of the Patrick despatches, where the word "medicine" was used, the word "money" should be substituted to ascertain the real meaning.

There is no doubt of the authenticity of this key, and we could show still further, and as conclusively, how and why it came to be used, but this information cannot now be probably, be of any consequence, and we do not therefore go into it.

We doubt if the record of a hundred years can show a more unintentionally and refreshingly candid confession than is contained in the following lines of an editorial in Friday's Boston Heat:

"In making its decision in accordance with the Republican demand, the Commission has failed to reach the very point for which it was created."

According to the Democratic view "the very point for which the Commission was created," was to decide in accordance with the Democratic "demand" for Tilden's election, and anything else is unsatisfactory. We thought that was about the style of "compromise" intended by the Democrats.

Perhaps no correspondent at Washington is better informed of the purposes of Mr. Tilden's leaders at the National Capital than the representative of the New York Sun, who remarks that the Democrats will probably "seek by some sort of tactics to get things into a shape where the House can decide that there has been no election and then proceed to elect Mr. Tilden." And that the bull-dozing has begun again before the Commission has decided the first case brought before it.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE THIRTIE ALMANAC for 1877, contains an unusual amount of information statistical, political, and historical, has been compiled with special care by Edward McPherson, author of the political manual. The question of Presidential controversy will be of interest to the information afforded in the Tribune Almanac as to the elections in all the States, a full statement of the proceedings in the three disputed States. For sale at Bugbee & Co.'s; price 25 cents.

WELL OFF.—You are well off when you are in a healthy neighborhood, with enough to eat and drink, a comfortable, well-ventilated apartment to sleep in, and you are paying all your expenses and laying up something—even slowly—for a rainy day. And in addition to all this, acquiring knowledge and strengthening your character. Young men whose situation combines all the preceding advantages should be very cautious about exchanging such a certainty. Happiness does not depend upon great wealth, much as it does upon independence and intellectual and moral culture.

TACKING SHIP OFF SHORE.

One watch on deck and one below
Off Fire-Island Head
We're tacking ship off shore;
Heavy weather we have had.
The mainsail's split in the middle watch
And the jibs are in ribbons, too;
The topsail yard is sprung in the bend
And we don't know what we can do.

The night is dark and the fog is thick
As we feel our way along
Through the Sound, with the lead and line
Sounding the channel long.
Now a cable's length! Now a half!
Now a quarter! Hard a port!
Ah! that was a close one! Steady, boys!
Steer for the light, and port!

Ah! the night is long to the watch on deck
Feeling the way along
Through the Sound, with the lead and line
Sounding the channel long.
Ah! the night is long to the watch below
Turning and tossing about
Dreaming of home and the girl he left
When he sailed out of the Sound.
